Work Experience

Website for car sales

My friend and I found a customer who wanted a car sales site, so he asked us to do it. The site was made qualitatively and quickly.

Easy Champ

This project, in which I participated as a React developer, was created to help judges count points during a fight (boxing, mma, wrestling, etc.). This program also building a grid of fights that could only be set up by the judges.

New Body

I made this site together with my team to an Ivano-Frankivsk blogger who has his own gym and he needed a site to sell weight loss courses.

SPS

The secret chat, which I created on my own overnight, it is now used by my friends and their acquaintances.

4Walls

For this company, I created a telegram bot in the js programming language to sell their products. After creating the bot, I added their products to it and continued to support it.
